³ According to Swedish regulations, an authorised signatory is the person/persons with the authority to make signatures on behalf of the company. It is usually the CEO or someone in the Board of Directors of the company or someone who has been delegated this authority. In case the signatory is not the CEO, the Swedish Customs need a signed power of attorney which confirms the delegated authority of the authorised signatory.

Processing of personal data on sole traders (i.e. private businesses identified by the personal identity number of the owner)

Publication of personal data

Swedish Customs' List of Customers includes personal name or business name, address, and registration number on everyone who holds an authorisation from Customs. The registration number is comprised of either the business identification number or the personal identity number of the owner and two additional digits. The list is published on our website, www.tullverket.se. For you, as a sole trader, the production of the list and the publication of it on our website mean that we process your personal data.

Why are the details published?

The online List of Customers is mainly used by customs agents, when employed by importers or exporters to make customs declarations. Through the list, the agents have easy access to certain data on the importers or exporters, which they need to make the customs declarations.

It is your decision

As a sole trader, you have the right to decide whether or not we may process your personal data for publication on the website. You indicate this on the application form when you apply for authorisation.

This information is provided in accordance with section 25 of the Personal Data Act (1998:204). The rules on consent are set out in section 10.

Controller of personal data

Swedish Customs is the controller of personal data, who decides the purpose of publishing the List of Customers on the website.
